During the period, we acquired HAMARIKYU INTERCITY and other three properties in the amount of approximately 20.3 billion yen in total.

About Future Asset Management

In the office leasing market, demand is rising for office buildings that are highly resistant to earthquakes and other damages due to the effect of the Great East Japan Earthquake, although the overall market conditions continue to be weak facing uncertainty in the economic outlook.

Japan Excellent, Inc. (JEI) will not only strive to improve the portfolio return through asset replacements and other means, but also make further investments toward the medium- to long-term expansion of the asset base in a manner that will ensure optimal balance in terms of investment size, return, and geographic area.

In financing, we will continue to strive for stable and sound financial operation through, among others, lengthening borrowing spans, converting floating-rate debts to fixed-rate debts, and diversifying maturity dates.

JEI will continue, as before, to promote our compliance system through strict conformance with the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and other applicable laws and regulations. In addition, we will be always paying attention to provide information about our financial conditions and asset management performance to our unitholders in an accurate and straightforward manner.

We kindly ask for your continued cooperation and support.

(2) Asset management development

Japan Excellent, Inc. (JEI) was founded on February 20, 2006 in accordance with the Law Concerning Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations of Japan (hereinafter referred to as the "Investment Trust Law"). On March 15, 2006, it completed the corporate registration to the Kanto Finance Bureau (registration number 52, issued by the Head of the Kanto Local Finance Bureau) and listed on the Real Estate Investment Trust Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange (Securities Code: 8987) on June 27, 2006.

Since the listing, we have continued investment management primarily in office buildings with the aim to maintain sound corporate growth and stable revenues based on the medium- and long-term perspectives. On December 31, 2011, we settled our eleventh period.

1) Business Conditions and Results

The domestic economy during the period showed a slight recovery from the effect of the Great East Japan Earthquake, yet it has been facing uncertainties primarily due to the impact of European financial crisis, progressive yen appreciation and prolonged deflation.

In the office leasing market, an increase in demand for office buildings highly equipped with quake-resistant and fire-prevention features are observed. However, the demand and supply in general has shown a back and forth state on the fear of remaining economic uncertainties. In the Tokyo metropolitan area, demand for office building is generally weak with only a few exceptional areas and the vacancy rate, which had once shown a sign of slight recovery, remains at the same unfavorable level. Besides, the rent level in the market has not recovered yet. In Osaka and Nagoya areas, a buoyant pickup in demand has recently been seen, however, the trend of declining rent prices continues in conjunction with the projections suggesting a shrinking demand in the future office leasing market.

Despite these harsh business conditions, JEI recorded improved average occupancy rate of 93.8 percent from 92.5 percent of the previous period for the entire holding properties, as a result of proactive leasing activities focusing on improvement-required properties in Akasaka and Kawasaki areas through closely working with our property management companies and office leasing intermediaries. In building management and operation, we strived for more efficient building operation, by reducing commissioned service fees including facility maintenance fees and reviewing PM fees, primarily for the key properties which need well-balanced profit and expenditure.

In the real estate investment market, the Great East Japan Earthquake caused a stagnant trading for a certain period of time. However, the effect on the overall market remained limited. Consequently trading for real estate investment trusts (REITs) resumed and turned to a pick up trend. JEI acquired four properties – MID Kyobashi Building (scheduled to operate under a new name, JEI Kyobashi Building from March 2012), No. 35 Kowa Building, HAMARIKYU INTERCITY, Pacific Square Sengoku – during the period from September to December of 2011. The entire asset portfolio held by JEI as of the end of the period recorded 23 properties in the investment amount of 215.4 billion yen (on the acquisition price basis) with total leasable space of 262,464.32m² (79,395.46 tsubo) at a 93.8 percent of occupancy rate (an increase of 1.4 percentage points from the last period) as of the end of the period.

2) Fund Raising Highlight

We have made efforts consistently since the previous term to raise funds, focusing on lengthening of interest bearing debts, diversification of maturity dates and conversion of floating-rate debts to fixed-rate debts.

JEI issued the third investment corporation bond (5-year) in the amount of 5 billion yen and the fourth investment corporation bond (7-year) in the amount of 2 billion yen on November 4, 2011 and entered into a short-term loan of 1.3 billion yen on a revolving credit line basis on November 25, 2011 to apply to part of funds for the acquisition of No. 35 Kowa Building. This short-term loan was refinanced to a long-term loan in the same amount (4-year with floating interest rate) on November 29, 2011.

On December 20, 2011, JEI entered into a short-term loan of 9 billion yen on a revolving credit line basis to apply to part of funds for the acquisitions of HAMARIKYU INTERCITY and Pacific Square Sengoku.

For refinancing of a long-term loan of 7 billion yen (floating interest rate) which matured on November 29, 2011, JEI managed to enter into long-term loan in the same amount (of which 3.24 billion yen was for 4-year floating interest loan and 3.76 billion yen was for 5-year floating interest loan).

As for the above floating interest loans (totaled 8.3 billion yen), we promoted the conversion of floating-rate debts to fixed-rate debts through interest rate swaps.

As a result, as of the end of the period, the average remaining debt maturity of interest bearing debts became 2.92 years, long-term borrowing ratio was 92.0 percent, fixed rate ratio was 62.3 percent and weighted average interest rate for loans purchased recorded 1.31 percent. Outstanding interest bearing debts totaled 112.8 billion yen, of which 9 billion yen was for short-term loans, 79.8 billion yen was for long-term loans (including those of 14 billion yen with the maturity of less than one year) and 24 billion yen was for investment corporation bonds (loan to value for the total assets was 49.6 percent as of the end of the period).

JEI has registered the issuance of investment corporation bonds for the purpose of dynamic arrangement of long-term funds as follows:

Туре	Estimated amount of issuance	Scheduled period for issuance
Investment corporation bond	100 billion yen	From February 9, 2012 to February 8, 2014

As for distributions, JEI determined to distribute all retained earnings at the end of period, rounding down the portion less than 1 yen of distribution per investment unit, with the intent to include the amount of profit distributions in deductible expenses by applying Special Measure Concerning Taxation for Corporation Tax (Section 67-15 of the Act on Special Measures Concerning Taxation). As a result, JEI determined the amount of distribution per unit to be 11,854 yen.

(5) Policy and issues on future investment management

1) Outlook for Investment Environment

An economic recovery is now considered to come later than the initial projection as the Chinese economy, once a driving factor for the global growth, is decelerating and the European debt crisis deepens. While the US growth is expected for a turnaround, a facilitated pace of domestic recovery in the coming months is also expected on the back of restored supply chains and boosted demand regarding the earthquake restoration. However, a fundamental upturn generated by buoyant exports is not expected to come anytime soon due to the impact of the downturn in the overseas economies.

In the office leasing market in the Tokyo metropolitan area, the forecasts indicate a weakened demand for a little while given the delayed economic upbeat. The vacancy rate is expected to keep back and forth and the rent level may further take time towards a turnaround. In Osaka and Nagoya areas, amid extended trend in moderate supply and demand due to scheduled supply of major office buildings, a drastic revitalization of the market is expected to come even later.

In the real estate investment market, easing trend of fund-raising conditions and investor needs can be expected to continue, giving rise to active trading. To realize this, further revitalization of the office leasing market and elimination of the gap in target prices and interest yield between sellers and buyers are considered to serve significantly.

2) Policy and Issues on Future Investment Management

Amid a delay in recovery in the office leasing market, JEI works to earn more profits from our overall asset portfolio through replacement of assets and other appropriate measures. We will strive for realizing more efficient property management operation to improve the profitability, focusing on retaining new tenants as early as possible, particularly for properties which need well-balanced profit and expenditure such as Ebina Prime Tower and Kawasaki Nissincho Building. In addition, we will consistently implement additional strategic investment plans to maintain the asset value and improve competitive position of our properties on the medium- to long-term basis.

For external growth, we will plan and implement well-balanced investments based on the size, profitability and target area to increase asset size and realize stable profitability in our portfolio on the medium- to long-term basis. To this end, we will continue enhancing further interaction and collaboration with sponsor companies, have our asset management companies to cultivate and refine property information sources, and seek business opportunities with efforts to proactively gain access to market information.

As for the financial environment, we recognize that the fund-raising conditions in the real estate investment industry are generally favorable despite concerns over the market environment in the near term due to deepening European financial crisis and other factors. Based on this perspective, we will consistently work on stable financial operation through diversifying financing sources including issuance of investment corporation bonds, diversifying maturity dates, lengthening borrowing spans, converting floating-rate debts to fixed-rate debts, and maintaining liquidity through establishment of commitment lines.

Notes to Financial Statements

For the periods from July 1, 2011 to December 31, 2011 and from January 1, 2011 to June 30, 2011

1. Organization

Japan Excellent, Inc. (hereinafter, "JEI"), established on February 20, 2006 under the Law Concerning Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations of Japan (the "Investment Trust Law"), is a real estate investment corporation which primarily invests in office buildings.

JEI is externally managed by a licensed asset management company, Japan Excellent Asset Management ("JEAM"). JEAM is owned 45% by Kowa Real Estate Co., Ltd., 20% by The Dai-ichi Life Insurance Company, Limited, 15% by Sekisui House, Ltd. and 20% by other corporations.

JEI was listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange on June 27, 2006. As of December 31, 2011, JEI held 23 properties with 262,464 square meters of total leasable space and had leases with 124 tenants excluding residential tenants.

2. Basis of Presentation

JEI maintains its accounting records and prepares its financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan ("Japanese GAAP"), including provisions set forth in the Investment Trust Law, the Corporation Law of Japan, the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law of Japan and related regulations, which are different in certain respects as to the application and disclosure requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards.

The accompanying financial statements are a translation of the financial statements of JEI, which were prepared in accordance with Japanese GAAP and presented in the securities report of JEI filed with the Kanto Local Finance Bureau. In preparing the accompanying financial statements, certain reclassifications and modifications have been made for the convenience of readers outside Japan. In addition, the notes to the financial statements include information that might not be required under Japanese GAAP but is presented herein as additional information. Amounts have been rounded to the nearest thousand yen in the accompanying financial statements and in the notes thereto, whereas amounts were truncated in the Japanese financial statements prepared in accordance with Japanese GAAP.

Amounts in U.S. dollars are included solely for the convenience of readers outside Japan. The rate of $77.73 = U.S.$1.00, the foreign exchange rate prevailing on December 31, 2011, has been used for translation. The inclusion of such amounts is not intended to imply that Japanese yen have been or could be readily converted, realized or settled into U.S. dollars at that or any other rate.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash on hand, deposits with banks, a negotiable certificate of deposit and short-term investments which are highly liquid, readily convertible into cash with an insignificant risk of price fluctuation and with an original maturity of three months or less.

Property and equipment including trust accounts and trademark rights

Depreciation is computed by the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets as follows:

Buildings	2-60 years
Building improvements	2-59 years
Machinery and equipment	7 – 16 years
Furniture and fixtures	3-10 years

Amortization of trademark rights is computed using the straight-line method over a period of 10 years.

Deferred assets

Investment corporation bond issuance costs are amortized using the straight-line method over the amortization periods.

Income taxes

Income taxes are accounted for on the basis of taxable income for financial statement purposes. The asset and liability method is used to recognize deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying amounts and the tax bases of assets and liabilities.

Consumption taxes

Consumption taxes received and paid are not included in the accompanying statements of income and retained earnings. Consumption tax related to properties, which has not been deducted, is included in the cost of the properties.

Property-related taxes

Principally, property-related taxes including property taxes, urban planning taxes and depreciable property taxes are imposed on a calendar-year basis and are expensed as property and other taxes (refer to Note 13).

JEI capitalizes the property-related taxes allocated to the sellers of properties to JEI at the time of acquisition of such properties including trust accounts. The capitalized amounts for the periods from July 1, 2011 to December 31, 2011 and from January 1, 2011 to June 30, 2011 were $15,667 thousand ($201,560) and $66,033 thousand, respectively.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Provision for loss on disaster

Provision for loss on disaster is recorded at the amount estimated as of December 31, 2011 and June 30, 2011 to provide for possible repair and recovery costs arising from the Great East Japan Earthquake.

Revenue recognition

Rental revenues are generally recognized on an accrual basis over the life of each lease.

Derivatives and hedge accounting

JEI utilizes interest-rate swap agreements as derivative financial instruments solely for the purpose of hedging its exposure to fluctuation in interest rates. JEI has entered into certain interest-rate swap contracts to hedge variable rates for its long-term debt obligations.

The corresponding interest-rate swap meets the criteria for the special hedge accounting treatment under Japanese GAAP, and it is therefore not recorded at fair value.

The amounts paid or received via the swap transaction are recognized as interest adjustments. An assessment of hedge effectiveness is omitted accordingly.

Properties in trust accounts

All assets and liabilities held in trust, for which real estate in possession of JEI was entrusted, and all earnings and expenses resulting from such trust, are properly reflected in the accompanying balance sheets and statements of income and retained earnings, respectively.

(Additional information)

Effective July 1, 2011, JEI adopted the Accounting Standard for Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (Accounting Standards Board of Japan (hereinafter referred to as the ASBJ) Statement No. 24, December 4, 2009) and the Guidance on Accounting Standard for Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (ASBJ Guidance No. 24, December 4, 2009).

4. Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents including trust accounts in the accompanying balance sheets and cash and cash equivalents in the accompanying statements of cash flows at December 31, 2011 and June 30, 2011 consisted of the following:

5. Financial Instruments

For the periods from July 1, 2011 to December 31, 2011 and from January 1, 2011 to June 30, 2011

Overview

(1) Policy for Financial Instruments

JEI borrows from banks, issues investment corporation bonds and issues investment units to procure funds required to grow its assets under management and to repay liabilities, based on the financial policy set forth by JEAM and the Company's Annual Funds Procurement Plan. When procuring funds by means of interest-bearing debt, matters such as seeking longer durations and maturities, securing fixed interest rates and diversifying maturity dates are taken into consideration to achieve a more stable financial situation and avoid the risk of future interest rate hikes. Surplus funds may be invested in deposits and safe, liquid financial assets and investment securities, but are, in principle, placed in deposits. Derivative transactions are used solely for the purpose of hedging against the risk of fluctuations in interest rates of borrowings and the like.

- (2) Types of Financial Instruments, Related Risks and Risk Management System
 - (a) Market Risks (Interest Rate Fluctuation Risks)

Borrowings and investment corporation bonds are primarily used to acquire properties or to refinance existing borrowings. Some of such debt are floating rate instruments and thus are exposed to the risk of interest rate fluctuations. Based on interest rate forecasts developed through constant monitoring activities, JEI hedges against the risk of interest rate fluctuations using derivative transactions (interest-rate swaps), which swap a floating interest rate for a fixed interest rate. To reduce credit risk, derivative transactions (interest-rate swaps) are entered into exclusively with counterparties that are financial institutions having a high credit rating. For hedging accounting methods, hedging instruments, hedged items, hedging policies and methods for evaluation the effectiveness of hedging activities, see "Derivatives and hedge accounting" under Summary of Significant Accounting Policies.

(b) Liquidity Risk (the risk of being unable to procure funds required for repayments)

Borrowings and investment corporation bonds are exposed to liquidity risk. This risk is reduced by diversifying maturity dates and funding sources, and liquidity risk is managed through the constant management of liquidity on hand.

(3) Supplementary Explanation of the Estimated Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The fair value of financial instruments is based on their quoted market price, if available. When there is no quoted market price available, fair value is reasonably estimated. Since various assumptions and factors are reflected in estimating the fair value, different assumptions and factors could result in a different fair value.

Fair value of financial instruments

The following are carrying values and fair values as of December 31, 2011 and June 30, 2011 of financial instruments and the differences between them. When fair value is difficult to ascertain, it is excluded from the following table (Note 2).

(Note 1)

Methods for calculating the fair value of financial instruments and matters related to derivatives transactions

Assets

- (1) Cash and cash deposits and
- (2) Cash in trust and deposits in trust

Carrying value approximates fair value because of the short maturities of these instruments.

Liabilities

- (3) Short-term loans,
- (4) Long-term debt due within one year and
- (6) Long-term debt

Where floating rates apply, fair value is based on book value. The fair value of such liabilities is considered to be close to book value because floating rates reflect market interest rates within a short period of time.

If the loan is part of long-term debt, in the case of floating-rate debt hedged by an interest-rate swap, the fair value is calculated in a similar manner using the total principal and interest amount, treated in combination with the interest-rate swap, given that the interest-rate swap is subject to the special treatment of interest-rate swaps under Japanese GAAP.

The fair value of long-term fixed-rate debt and long-term fixed-rate debt due within one year are calculated by discounting the combined value of principal and interest of the applicable long-term debt by a reasonable rate assuming the same amount were to be borrowed anew.

5. Financial Instruments (continued)

(5) Investment corporation bonds

The fair value of investment corporation bonds issued by JEI is based on quoted market prices.

(7) Derivative transactions

Please refer to Note 16, "Derivative Transactions."

(Note 2)

Financial instruments for which fair value is deemed extremely difficult to determine

		As of December 31, 2011	As of June 30, 2011	As of December 31, 2011
		(Thousand	(U.S. dollars)
(1)	Security deposits from tenants *	¥ 415,626	¥ 421,646	$ 5,347,046
(2)	Security deposits from tenants for trust accounts *	¥8,535,962	¥7,653,840	$109,815,535

* Security deposits from tenants and security deposits from tenants for trust accounts in leased properties are not subject to fair value disclosure because such deposits have no market price. Moreover, it is difficult to calculate the actual period of time on deposit, namely, from the time the tenant moves in until the time the tenant vacates, and it is extremely difficult to rationally estimate cash flow.
